

You still here, I feel you all around me. I can't leave, You always haunt the way back to me.
You fill my head, keep whispering, obsessing. You suck life out of me leaving me breathless and hollow. You destroy my word, everything that I ever own. Slowly, piece by piece you keep tearing me up. In the end there is you, only you, then I will surrender.