

Time is right, don't fear the fall. Soon you'll hear the Angels' call. They are here to help you and guide you through. No one will ever miss the gloom. Don't be frightened and neither doubt them. The Angels are here for only a short moment. You may feel their presence also. As beings of light they come and go. They are always in space, forever existing. Even after the sun dies, They will still be there to sing.